Next Monday night, December 5, will be ladles' night at Pledmont Lorge, No. 172, in Pythian Castle, Twelfth and Alles streets, and some games are scheduled for the evening between the San Francisco and Oakland teams, and cwing to the fact that the Oaklanders aptured the majority of games at the lat intercity match, which was held at Culifornia Lodge, No. 1, in San Francisco, each team will be in good condition to repeat the triumph on their own grounds, but the Frisco boys are equally condident and threaten to turn the tables on the commuters, therefore some excel ent exhibitions are in store for the fars.

Arrangements are under way for the Ohird annual ball, which will be given by the Pythians at Rice Institute hall on February 21, 1911, and indging from the part performances, this should be the banner event of the season in Pythian circles. The knights have proven on many previous coensions that they excel in the art of entertaining and his club passing ball is being looked forward to with pleasure by the knights and their women. Below is the official a ore and standing of the teams:

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 -There was a decided flurry at the White House today when the cream of the California exposition delegation, twenty-five strong, called by appointment to pay their respects to President Taft at the White House and later at the other end of Pennsylvania avenue descended on Uncle Joe Cannon

It was a cordial reception in each instance, but in the case of the President there was marked evidence in the thoroughly informal colloquy that ensued that if there shall be only one exposition he is for San Francisco first, last and all the time Experience has compelled him, for the time, to straddle the question and he so lintimated, going so far as to say record as in favor of two expositions But he quickly added.

She Declares Millionaire Gave Her the Money Just "for Friendship."

MISERLY VICTIM PAID TO HEAR FROM WIFE

He Turns Against Woman at Whose Home He Lived Many Years.

WASHINGTON Dec. 5—On June 27 last Dr Lee M Hurd of New York City conservator o' fenton J Hurd's estate, fied aut to recover $40,000 from Mrs Laurs R. Cramer, a clerk in the Treasury department who is accused of having obtained the money by representing o the aged mil lonaire that she was a medium and was in communication with Hurd's wife whom he idolized. After the filing of the suit Mrs Cramer icaled the charges that she had represented herself as a medium. She declared false the charge that she falsed messages from the spirit world directing the 38 wear old millionaire to give her his worldly goods. Yet she admitted having received $25,000 from him as a mark of the high regard in which he held her.

Then at a hearing before Justice Bar-Then at a hearing before Justice Dai-mard of the district supreme court on a petition filed by Dr Lee M Hurd for the appointment of a receiver to take charge of a series of promissory notes aggregat-ing nearly $35,000, said to have been purchased with proceeds of the elder Hurd's funds, disclosures began anew

This in brief is the story of the situlation which has involved one of New Yorks oldest families also well known in New Haven and Boston in a mesh of htigation and sensational disclosures and in the midst of revelations which charge the duping of an old and mentilly discapable man.

Incidentally it recounts a story of a stream of a negative lasting and passionately intense devotion to a vanished ideal—a woman—octogenarian frurd's dead wife Fenton J Hurd made his monony in room mining at Fort Henry X 1 His earlife was spent in Greenwich, Conn Harling established himself in business he with the sid of his wife Mary Hurd became rapidly rich investments in Minnesota land in the early days were remunerative and between his iron mines and his real estate ventures he became affinent.

Spent $3000 Before

That All Else.

"Mrs. Dodd suffered with eczema for thirty-seven years," writes Mr. William P. Dodd, Neva, Ind. "I spent over $210d in dectoring it. — got me to try poslam. She is now cured. One fiftycent box did her more good than all the doctoring I had done."

There is no doubt about the efficacy of poslam. It is probably the most widely recommended remedy available to the public, solely because of its remarkable power to heal affected skin, curing 'all exzemas, acrne, etter, scanles, itch, ctt. Bacterial infections so prune to spread are checked at once. Itching stops and minor troubles such as plumples, in the strenges, rashes, complexion blemsles, ted. Whenever the skin alls poslam should be used first hefore anything less certain is experimented with.

Poslam is sold in two sizes (trial, 50 cents; regular jars, $2) by all druggists, particularly The Owl Prug Co. For free sample write to the Emergency Lab ratones, 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York City.

Chairman of Commission ])eclares Proper Revision Needs Years of Study.

URGES THAT HIS BOARD BE A PERMANENT BODY

Hurried Changes Are Not Correct and Errors Are Made.

CHICAGO, Dec 3 -The business men of Chicago, as represented by the a. soclation of commerce, were given a libral education this evening in an address nade before them, following a banquet in the gold room of the Congress He el by Chairman Henry C Emery of ha tariff commission on the differences which confront that body and the co intry in general in an effort to intellige thy revise the schedules of duties placed upon imports into this country.

Emery's speech was an official ut erance and voiced the opinion of the Jaft administration. It threw a new light on the problem of tariff revisions, tending to show how absurd have been the effir ts of congress a whole to revise the -ntire tariff list in a few months when, as matter of fact, the task is one tlat, In order to insure intelligent action and profitable results to the nation a shole, requires years of study and inestimation by trained experts

FAVORS PERMANENT BODY

Emery urged that the commission be nade a permanent body with enlar ed powers and freedom from dependence mon the success or defeat of any no itical party. He however, was not in favor of the commission being emps wered to summon witnesses and examine

Emery took issue with those who issert that the tailff problem is a husing problem pure and simple. It is something deeper than this. It strikes at the four-Even after all of the facts have ben ascertained there still remains to be antled a great political question, the quistion of which policy the nation ought to adopt, free trade or high protection.

Emery outlined in great detail be work which the commission already as accomplished and the ideal it has in view Lack of appropriations has k pt the commission idle for many months, so that although it has been in existence actively at work five months of that commission has made great progress and is now ergaged in a study of te schedules on julp and paper wool, farm products, chemicals, metals and cottons Efforts have been concentrated on he first three and a report will be for h-

(By VANCE THOMPSON)

PARIS Dec 3—An epidemic of divorce has broken out in our American colony. In fact Paris is rapidly becoming a formidable rival of Reno. The reason why so many American women prefer Paris for their divorce adventures is that there is a chance of less publicity here. The French law prohibits the publication of pessults of divorce cases and the courts.

law prohibits the publication of pesults of divorce cases and the courts do heir best to enforce this law against publicity. Thus Paris divorces are highly popular with American women of the smart set. The latest victims of the divorce epidemic are Mr and Mrs Barrett Fithian of Santa Barbara. Until their present matrimonial rupture they were very much in evidence in Parislar society, their social standing boots. were very much in evidence in Parisiar society their social standing being excellent. The Countess de Gabria was a Miss Fithian before her marriage with Count Arthur de Gabriac who has made a name for himself as a singer of church muste. She is also a granddaughter of Richard Connolly who lived for many years in the Avenue de l'Opera and was well known in Tammany Hall half a century ago. century ago

Why?-

Here is Why the Evening Paper

is a better medium for advertising than the morning newspaper

Because the evening newspaper is the home paper. It is purchased and taken home or else delivered into the home each evening. It is read at the close of work each day by the busy men around their fresides. It is there that the housewife after the busy attention of a days duties, scars the advertising columns and p ins her purchases for the next lay

Most housewives plan their visits to the large stores to make the purchases the evening before. Even if they did pick up a motning paper and see a bargain advertised they would not have time to rush down town and make their purchuses. They must have time beforehand to plan. This is why the Sunday paper is regarded as a good advertising medium. The fact that the women have all lay Sunday to read the ada and to plan for heir purchases the next day. This makes Monday a big business day and it is this fact alone which makes the evening and Sunday Tribune the best advertising medium

It gives the women, the largest patronizers of advertising, time to meditate and discuss the advertising. It gives them time to plan their purchases for the next day has been a good deal of pulling and hauling as to who should be Director-General, who should be chairman of the Committee on Concessions and the like.

Well, suppose a telegram should come along some of from the boosters at Washington reading: "We secured the indorsement by Congress." Then day from the boosters at Washi igton reading: "We have secured the indorsement by Congress." Then suppose the directors who are here in California should get together and elect at the officers for the exposition without waiting for the boosters to get back. Would you call that a rean trick or a good joke? It could be pulled off.

For the fact is that though some of the busiest and most influential directors are in the east enough were left behind here to make up a quorum. That quorum could meet and elect every officer from Director-General down, and when he boosters got hack they would have a hard time trying to undo the work of their brethren who don't go to Washington. That is why the wags suggested that a grand coup could be pulled off and a great joke perpetrated on some ambitious men.

Far to Go for a Lawsuit

The other day a lawyer who had just settled comfortably in San Francisco for the winter after a long season in Alaska receive I a dispatch from a wealthy client: "Case forced to trial. Come at once."

Off started the lawyer. Now he didn't start for Los Angeles or Portland, or even New York or Chacago. He was called to Fairbanks. To attend court and try that case he had to travil continuously, night and day for over fifteen days. He could get to Paris, or Berlin far easier. Part of his ravel will be over 350 miles of snow and ice, perhaps by dog team. And then, when the trial is over, it will take just as much time and hardship to get back to the winter comforts of San Francisco.

The lawyer was Thomas Metrowan, and I am sure his fellow practitioners will pray that he receives the fattest kind of a fee for naving o travel so hard and so far in the dead of winter.

No Salary for Over a Year

Did you know that until this week the Justices of the Subreme Court of Californ a had not received a cent of salary for over a year? That seems as if the great rich State of California was treating the benchers of its highest court in a mighty mean manner. But really it was their (win fault).

It was all on account of the Louis Glass case. That case was submitted to the court a year ago last August. Under our law the Justices cannot draw their pay unless they can swear that no case on their calendar has been under submission over ninety days. They couldn't make up their minds on the Glass case, and so they couldn't draw their say.

But even row they have only had their salaries up to last Pehmary, for offer cases block the calendar, though they are not as stubborn as the Glass case decision.

It may be said, incidentally, that everybody hopes Glass will go free. Even the zealots of the prosecution feel pay and admiration for him, and feel that he was the victim of circumstances

The Free Masonry of Pugilism

Now that it gibsm as a luctative calling is dying out in Cabbonar, isn't is singular to think back and recall how how the established ever really exposed their lakes. With the exception of Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, there hasn't been a real confessor among them. And yet we know that nearly all the prominent sluggers have put over bid ones from time to time.

Take that Jeffries-Fitzsimmens fake in San Francisco, for instance. Though now admitted to have been a fake, have you ever heard any of those connected with it confess to how it was put over? Joe Gans went to his grave without elling how he framed up his famous take with Jimmy Britt. Ruhlin never has peeped about his second fight with Jeffries. No one ever heard Joe Webett "tell,"

People have come to egard this close-mouthedness of prize fighters much as they consider the same characteristics in night-hawk hack-drivers and the waiters in French restaurants. Nex it is truly remarkable that so many fakes could have been strong and so few confessions extorted.

Who Will Be the Labor Party Leader

We seem to be working up to a very warm municipal campaign next year, and already there is much debate over candidates and possibilities. Particularly is there much concern as to who will be the candidate of the labor forces.

Of course Mayor McCarthy expects to run again.

THE KNAVE

If Michael Casey sticks to him and gives him the full benefit of his influence, McCarthy ought to win, even with Andy Gallagher as a sharp contender for the honors. But will Casey stick?

There is a notion that if Casey should declare himself in the fight he could get away with the pie for his own consumption. But he does not declare any such intention, and he may never do so. At present he rules the Board of Works with an iron hand. It is even said that he does not appoint men sent to him by Mc-Carthy, and that the Mayor doesn't kick, because he needs Casey more than Casey needs him.

In any event with non-partisan tickets under our recently adopted charter amendment, it is going to be a fine scramble for the Mayoralty with the doctrine of "the devil take the hindmost" put into political application with a vengeance.

Just a Little Variety in the Law

The other day I saw a "complaint" in which an out-of-the-ordinary lawyer caused many a smile by his change in the everyday fashion of legal verbiage. Of course you have read time and again the complaints that are drawn to take in all sorts of persons, known and unknown. These read generally: "John Smith vs. John Doe, Richard Roe, James Roe, Jane Roe, Sarah Roe," etc.

Well, this lawyer wearled of drawing complaints like this every day. He tired of that same old Roc family getting into every case. So he sent forth a complaint headed something like this:

"John Smith vs. John Doe, Richard Roe, Bald-head Roe, Pleas ire Roe, Rotten Roe, Shad Roe," etc., and his lawyer colleagues are laughing at his felly.

San Francisco Election

Although San Francisco's next municipal election is nearly one year off, the preliminary scrimmage is already on. The outlook is for at least four political camps in this city with strong probability of an increase in that number as the campaign wears on.

At the present time there is an incipient contention in the Republican ranks over the continuing of the local party as a regular organization and making the campaign as such, and a proposed plan of fusion between the Goo-Goos, or "lily whites" of the local party, under the leadership of Rolla V. Watt, and the McNab Democrats which would mean presenting of a non-partisan municipal ticket to the voters.

There is a strong opposition to this latter proposed course. A large element in the Republican party demands a regular organization prespective of the effect of the recently adopted amendment to the charter in the interest of non-partisan elections. It is pointed out that the last non-partisan ticket in San Francisco, of which John Partridge was made the head, was a failure. It is estimated that there are at least 10,000 Republicans who will support their regular party ticket if permitted to do so and this is a nucleus of campaign not wisely to be ignored.

While there have been a number of secret conferences with a view to effecting unity in the local party, the indications are that there will be a camp of organization supporters and also that the "Lily Whites" will erect their tepees in this local fight.

Charles F. Curry's friends already have announced his withdrawal from the Harbor Commission contest and that he will concentrate his effort in the Mayoralty light. The new election law for San Francisco has peculiar a tractions for Curry and under it he believes that he can win handily. The friends of Curry are telling of a piece of good fortune that recently came to the Secretary of State in a financial way. It is reported that in the disposal of the Haggin ranch in Sacrameuto county, Curry made several thousand dollars in options he secured on portions of this property.

Political chatter has it that Tom Burke, who handled Dr. Leland's fight for Mayor two years ago, will take headquarters charge of the campaign for Curry and that Tom Kehoe, who had charge of Curry's canvass for Governor, will be unable to confine his political talents to the restricted field of municipal politics.

The talk of Rolla V. Watt as the candidate of the "Lally Whites" for Mayor has subsided maily because of the behef of Watt himself that he cannot win. Percy V. Long, whose name was also suggested for the Mayoralty, is said to have determined to confine his effort to securing a return to the office of City Attorney.

P. II. McCarthy is making preparation for a campaign to succeed himself, but during the week there have been whisperings of a somewhat formidable rival in Alfred Koncovieri, the Superintendent of Schools of this city. The latter's friends believe that he could easily come inside the two candidate limit set for the primary by the new election law of this city. Out in the Mission district it looks as though either Fred G. Sanborn, the law-book man, and former member of the Oliver Grand Jury, and James Rolph Jr., the banker and improvement club man, would have to determine between themselves who shall be the candidate of that section, if either.

Major Frank V. Keesling, who made such a gallant run or Lieutenant-Governor at the late primary, is having a camp formed for him and seemingly is in the fight to stay.

Byron Mauzy, the piano man, who ran as the candidate of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League for Mayor at the primary last year and was defeated by William Crocker, still has aspirations, but will not attempt to satisfy them unless he be assured the support of a united Republican party.

On the Democratic side Dr. T. B. W. Leland will again be a candidate for Mayor, and to date no opposition with n his party lines has been suggested. A year ago Leland had the almost unanimous support of the long-hair as represented by the Lincoln-Roosevelt League, but it is doubtful if he will be able to assemble so large a number of these under his political banner in this next canvass.

As the term of Mayor has been extended to four years instead of two as heretofore, there are some who believe that Washington Dodge, the Assessor, may be induced to take a primary flyer for the nomination.

Political Patronage

While during the absence of Governor-elect Johnson there is nothing but speculative gossip relative to the disposition he will make of the State patronage, there is: consensus of political opinion that Al McCabe will be the new Governor's private secretary.

It appears to be accepted, in political opinion, that T. M. Eay, secretary of the present State Board of Equalization, will be retained in that position by the incoming board because of his experience.

If unanimous guessing amounts to anything Chas. R. Detrick, secretary of the Republican State Central committee, and who was active in the recent State campaign, will succeed Walter D. Wagner as secretary of the Railroad Commission. It is understood that Detrick is the first choice of Alexander Gordon and John M. Eshelman, the new Commissioners, who constitute a majority of the board, and not objectionable to H. D. Loveland, the re-elected member.

With the unusually early opening of the municipal campaigr comes a heavy demand for patronage or political place. In this connection the fight for the position of Superintendent of Municipal Parks, long held by John McLaren, has again been resumed. The attempt to lift the scalp of this man of international reputation in the profession he has followed for so many years is not a new thing, but his friends are once more up in arms over the proposition and the fight hids fair to be a bitter one.

What 'Vill Sarah Do?

We ale to have Sarah Bernhardt with us once more and the wonder is, how will she open her local advertising campaign this time? On one of her previous visits the Divine Sarah got columns and pages in some of the local dailies by precipitating a dispute with the Palace I of management over the admission of her dogs as guests and permitting them to share her apartments. The managers declined to deviate from their rules that all dogs must go to the kennels arranged for them in the basement and not be assigned to guest rooms throughout the house.

Sarah in a rage, and duly accompanied by a retinue of press reporters, hied her to the California Hotel, where the rules were less rigidly enforced. In this latter place of entertainment for weary travelers and others not so weary, Bernhardt, in her haste forgot to register before repairing to her apartments. She was reminded of the oversight and consequent violation of the law regulating hotels. The actress, inclined to be courteously accommodating, suggested that the egister be sent to her rooms where she would gladly af ix her signature.

An a commodating and adiable clerk hastened to the actress' apartments with the big book. He was riet by Sarah's maid who informed him that her mistress was taking her bath. A musical voice was heard to call: 'Come right in.' The elerk, accompanied by the maic, entered the hathroom with his roster of guests and rested it on the rim of the bathrub while the Divite Sarah enrolled her name. The timid clerk then wit idrew and the emotional Sarah resumed her "tub."

On her next visit Bernhardt had added a poll parrott to her menagerie. This time it was the California that rebelled, nominally because of the noisy parrot, possibly because of a remembrance of the bathtub incicent. A compromise was then effected with the Palace.

"What will Bernhardt give us this time?" is a question now being asked by hotelmen, and a company of press reporters who have met the erratic Sarah or her previous visits to this city.

For Director-General

There are at least three candidates to date for the office of Director-General of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition which it is proposed to hold in San Francisco in 1915. In saying "candidates" I do not meat that these men have put themselves forward for the post of manager of the big fair, but that they are being urged for that place of great distinction by their friends and supporters.

Getting in Training for the San Francisco Fight

The trio includes Governor James N. Gillett, James McNab and M. H. de Young. The latter is being urged because of his great success as Director-General of the Mid-winter Fair which gave San Francisco much prestige as well as material benefits. Governor Gillett has many active supporters both among his numerous personal friends and the politicians of whom he has been a prominent leader for the past four years.

Newspapermen Make Good

The working new spaper men of San Francisco have been more successful in carrying off high political honors than have some of the higher-ups in that field of diversified industry. Henry C. Hansbrough, who years ago was a reporter on the Chronicle, has represented North Dakota in the United States Senate. Fred G. Cannon, who once did the reportorial stunt on the same journal, alterward represented Utah in the upper house of Congress.

And now I hear that Herbert Thomas, who was a reporter on the Examiner in the early days of W. R. Hearst's control of that publication, and things were humming in local rewspaper circles, is about to be sent to Parliament from Cornwall.

All three of these men were hustlers for news in their day and many are the stories related of them by their co-workers of that period. Hansbrough was an "all-round" newspaper man and one of his assignments was to report James G. Maguire, subsequently a Congressman from the Fourth District, San Francisco, in a canvass Maguire vas then making. Street railway service was comparatively limited in those days and Maguire and the reporter clambered over and ploughed through the mid-winter mud of the Mission hills on foot. Hansbrough being with a Republican paper, while Maguire was making a Democratic canvass, the latter frequently was the victim of the reporter's satire and before the campaign was over the relations between the two were at least somewhat strained.

Later Congressman Maguire met Hansbrough in Washington, D. C. The Representative from California referred to the days when they trudged the Mission and Potrero hills in darkness and through mud, the only guide to the meeting place they sought being a coal oil lamp placed in the window of a saloon or shoemaker's shop to serve as a beacon.

"By-the-by," inquired Maguire of his quoudam political trailer, "what are you doing in Washington?"

"Oh, I am on the other side," breezily responded Hansbrough, meaning the Senate side.

Maguire inferring that Hansbrough was an attache of the upper House, referred to R. P. Troy and other attaches he knew and Hansbrough said that he met them almost daily.

The next day Naguire ascertained that his repotorial Nemesis of the Mission hills was United States Senator Henry C. Hansbrough of North Dakota.

Herbert Thomas, the present editor of two English newspapers and prospective member of the British Parliament, came to San Francisco as a mere lad on a sading vessel. He was mistaken by the late Captain of Detectives I. W. Lees for an English forger then much wanted on the other side of the Atlantic. In order to make a measure of amends for his mistake Lees, finding that Thomas had done some newspaper work in England, secured a place for him on the Examiner.

After being employed on the Examiner for a few years Thomas returned to England, where he has made good both in journalism and politics.

Cold Storage Eggs

One now hears much talk of the price of eggs, 65 cents a dozen, and this, too, for eggs that were bought last March and April by the produce men and other dealers for not to exceed 20 cents a dozen, and have been in cold-storage ever since. The housewife rarely gets other than cold-storage eggs these days, no matter what price she pays

Two of the leading hotels of San Francisco will not purchase eggs from the dealers in this city at any price, but have contracts to take them direct from the small producers at 15 cents a dozen in advance of the current market price, the arrangement running the year round. For example, if the retail market price of eggs is 25 cents these hotels pay 40 cents a dozen to the producers; if retailing at 65 cents a dozen the hostelries give 80 cents for them under their contracts. Twenty or more small producers supply these hotels with eggs under a guarantee of their absolute fresh-

The hotel managers have found this plan necessary to satisfy their patrons, among whom are many gourmets whose plates demand quality rather than quantity. Cold-storage eggs will neither fry nor scramble well and are quickly detected by the epicures of both sexes at these hotes and rejected if ever service.

How Things Have Changed

In the whirligig of time things that once were as pleasant and agreeable as a summer breeze often turn out bitter and awry. This reflection is prompted by the story current about the Nevada and California creditors of T. B. Rickey, the prominent Nevada financier and business man who fell into financial difficulties following the panic of the fall of 1907. The creditors have not yet been settled with, and one of their difficulties is the fact that there is a provision in the State constitution of Nevada which provides that a stockholder shall not be responsible for the debts of any company in which he may happen to own stock at the time of his failure. This non-stock liability of Rickey in several Nevada corporations is what is bothering the creditors, especially those living in California, where the liability of a stockholder is strong and stringent. This provision of the Nevada constitution was inserted during the days of the Comstock, when mining companies were legion and stock speculation a madness. It was inserted in the document by men like Fair, Flood, Mackay, O'Brien and Sharon to encourage stock ownership in mining companies through speculation. How things have

THE KNAVE

Gumshoe Burns a Failure

I saw "Billy" Pinkerton of Chicago, the head of the famous detective agency bearing his name, on the street the other day. Pinkerton does not look a bit downcast because of the fact that for two years in succession a majority vote of the directors of the American Bankers' Association has given the detective privilege of the latter to William J. Burns and his New York associates. Pinkerton had the privilege for many years, but Burns had enough influence to take it away from him. A minority of the directors opposed the change and are still combating it. Pinkerton all along has held his tongue and is, as a matter of fact, virtually laughing in his sleeve. Those who know state that in spite of the majority action of the directors of the association fully half of the bankers in that body still continue to employ Pinkerton when they need detective services. He gets specially paid in each of these cases and in the aggregate is making more money from the bankers than when he was the official sleuth of the association. It is also known that Pinkerton is right along recovering more stolen money for the banks than the Burns agency and has to his credit during the past two years more arrests of defaulting bank clerks and officials, bad-check passers and so forth.

Laugh On the Groom

She laughs over the incident now, but a week ago Saturday just before she was married it was nothing to smile about. On the occasion in question, Octavius Arntzen was married in the little Episcopal church in Sausalito to Miss Ella Anderson. Both are from Copenhagen, where they are well connected. Arntzen is an architect and has built for himself a cozy home there and several others for tenants. Some forty guests were invited from San Francisco to the wedding and the prospective groom had automobile waiting at the Sausalito ferry to convey them to the church. The bride-to-be was at the home of a friend in the picturesque, hilly town about a mile and a half from the church. The ceremony was set for 1 p. m. Mr. Arntzen, his best man, the minister and the guests were promptly on hand. The pretty Danish girl who was to be the bride was expected any moment. When fifteen minutes rolled by, groom minister and guests began to move restlessly. Firal'y half an hour went by and then an hour. The guests thought some bad denouement would be the result. All of a sudden it dawned on the prospective groom that he had not sent an automobile to convey his intended to the church, as agreed upon. One was sent posthaste and after a delay of an hour and a half the merry wedding bells rang. The prospective bride had almost become a nervous wreck before the auto put in an appearance. Arntzen and his bride were lovers in Copenhagen some years ago. They quarreled and drifted apart, he coming to this coast to live. He never expected to see his first love again. She, by a coincidence, came to this city while travelnig with friends on a tour of the world. They met by chance on the street one day. The old love was rekindled and the young woman consented to remain here and become a bride.

Billy Hopkins Is Married Again

W. F. Hopkins, or "Billy," as he is best known about town, was quietly married to a nurse up in Lake county about ten days ago, and doubtless not over four people as yet know about it. This is the young man's third matrimonal venture and the event was consummated before his mother could step in to stop it. Mrs. Hopkins was very wrathy and threatened to have the marriage annulled. She no doubt has changed her mind, for her son and his third bride are now visiting her at her home in Woodland, Young

Hopkins is part owner in the valuable property at Eddy and Powell streets, where the Techau Tavern is located, and is probably one of the best-known young men about town. He is a nephew of E. W. Hopkins, the millionaire society and clubman, whose three married daughters have long been known as the "Three Hopkins Sisters," because of their beauty and chic. All of the wealth of these two Hopkins families comes down from Mark Hopkins one of the big four who built the Central Pacific road. The sister of Billy Hopkins caused a mild sensation several years before the fire by marrying one of the Quinn brothers of Kentucky, who are noted followers of the turf. She is at present in the city with her husband.

Traveling Man's Long Trip

A commercial traveler noted for the size of his salary and his ability in his line of business was telling Manager James Woods of the St. Francis last night a story illustrative of how accustomed to long separations a traveling man and his wife may become. This man's work takes him from coast to coast, and not infrequently he is gone from home for five and six months at a stretch. The last time he went away, according to his tale, he was obliged to leave home right in the midst of a meal, in order to catch the train he was anxious to go on.

"You ought to wait another day and have your suit pressed," remarked his wife. "I hate to have you go looking somewhat illy groomed."

"I'll have it done within a day or two-or at the first chance," he promised. "Wish I could stay, though, for a piece of that apple pie you were making. Save me a piece, won't you?"

Wifey went to the train with him and bade him a fond good-by. Just five months and fifteen days later he returned. Wifey was again at the train dutifully.

"I see you kept your promise and had you suit pressed," were her first words as she threw her arms about his neck.

"Yes," he replied, "but, by the way did you save me that piece of apple pie?"

Hervey Lindley

Hervey Lindley, the Scattle capitalist, is visiting old friends here with his wife preparatory to a twoyear tour of the world. Ten years ago Lindley was a prominent Republican politican of California and a member of the State Central Committee of that party. In those days he made his home in Los Angeles and in a financial way was quite modest. Always energetic in business as well as in politics, Lindley finally got control of some valuable timber lands in the northern part of this State and in Southern Oregon. He exploited them by means of a railroad and sawmills. Lumbermen in the State of Washington, including Sam Hill, a nephew of James J. Hill, the owner of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific roads, had their attention called to Lindley's operations. They bought Lindley out at a big figure. This deal led to close personal and business relations between Lindley and Sam Hill and other members of the Hill family. He went to Seattle to live and embarked with the Hills in other ventures, including a big telephone concern. In this way the former Californian is said to have amassed a fortune that is represented to amount today to between two and three millions of dollars.

Ghostly Chickens

A doctor friend tells of a pronounced instance of nervous hysteria in the case of a young society woman he has been treating. Its origin was due in part to an automobile accident and a ghost story. Some two weeks ago a merry party was out automobiling on the seventeen-mile drive at Monterey. A late supper was taken at the Lodge retreat on the drive. During the repast one of the party recalled a legend of the neighborhood about a couple of miles along the drive from where they were dining. The legend concerned the early missionaries under Junipero Serra. One night one of the fathers with some chickens was repairing to his temporary abode in that neighborhood when an insane Indian attacked and slew him. The chickens escaped, and ever since there have been stories that on certain nights the forms of chickens can be seen scooting across the road. The young woman in question became greatly interested in the tale, asking all sorts of questions. It was moonlight and midnight when the party started to return to Del Monte. The young woman, an excellent chauffeur was at the wheel. Nearing the spot of the legend, one of the members of the party jokingly said he could see the forms of chickens in the road just ahead. The dainty chauffeur screamed and yelled that she also saw them. At the same time she lost control of the auto and it was ditched. Luckily no one was badly hurt. The young woman, however, got into such a nervous state that medical treatment had to be called in. It was with some difficulty that her mind was cleared off the ghostly chickens.

A Social Crime

Varied and various are the gossipy tales among society fo k. One of the latest and most interesting has to do with the late Greenway ball and one of the distinguished dowagers who attended. Milady has a husband of large means and daughters who are in the social holy of holies. The story runs that on the evening it question amid what is considered the best form and style of the town the lady was seen sitting on one of the settees in the corridor of the Fairmont adjoining the ballroom picking her teeth with a hatpin. Of course, the story emanates from a female source and is told by her with spite and a marvelous wealth of detail, with the name mentioned as well. The narrator of the gossip will not be gainsaid in her conviction that an awful act was committed by this recognized pillar in the local social structure. As an iconoclast she draws the conclusion that it shows illbreeding and that the guilty party in question is not the only offender in that and other matters in the chosen set hereabouts. The tale has a weak link in it according to my way of thinking. It is admitted that the accused party had sat down with her hat in her lap. What more natural than to hold a hat pin between her lips preparing to put on the hat? At 2 a. m. elderly matrons do not rush to a mirror to put their hat. on. So probably she was engaged in the very innocent and proper act of putting her hat on, preparatory to taking her auto home instead of committing the hideous social crime alleged.

How Brooks Got Rich

Press agents indulge in much buncombe about theatrical managers and the players. But there is a true storz concerning Joseph Brooks, the manager of Lillian Fussell, now playing here, which is worth telling. For years Brooks hoed a hard row as advance man, press agent and so forth for this and that actor and actross. One day in New York while in the doldrums he got an idea and quietly and quickly hied himself to Crawfordsville, Ind., to see if he could carry it nto execution. He went to that town to interview General Lew Wallace, famous as soldier, diplomat and author to see if he could not get a contract with him for the dramatic rights of the author's talented old soldier in a receptive mood. He spent a week with General Wallace arranging the contract and agreeing upon the form the drama of the book was to take. In the end the details were all perfected to Wallace's satisfaction and "Ben Hur" was produced on the American stage with great success. During the care r of the play it has carned gross up to date $5,000,000 and Brook's share of the proceeds made him the rich and successful man in the theatrical world he is today.

Bohemians Do Not Agree On Publicity

The firectors of the Bohemian Club have decided formally that the Greek play given on the opening night in the new club-house must not be given a public performance, on the ground that it must continue to be a private and sacred memory in the history of the club. Pater Robertson and Humphrey J. Stewart were the authors of the ambitious and meritorious production. I is copyrighted in their names and is therefore their exclusive property. They are not disposed to share in the arbitrary views of the directors. Nor is the position of the directors pleasing to such prominent members as William H. Crocker, Charles Jossely: and others. Crocker is willing to pay $100 for a box in case Messrs, Robertson and Stewart finally lecide upon a performance in some theater. Mr. Josselyn and others are of a like frame of mind. Those who took part in the original production are willing o appear in public if the authors request them to do eo. Robertson and Stewart are keeping very quiet as to their intentions, but the belief is that they will decide upon a public production some time this

Princess Is Secure in Society

The Princess David Kawananakoa of Honolulu, a beautiful and wealthy young widow, has this season attained her heart's desire. She has been fully recognized by San Francisco society and now goes anywhere and everywhere in what is considered the charmed circles. Her invitation to the ball of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Crocker on the occasion of the social debut of their daughter, Ethel, came unexpectedly to her and was the last thing needed to make her position secure. The Tobin family has also been smiling graciot sly or the Hawaiian princess. In fact, she has entered the various cliques into which societydom is divided and with much tact has pleased and given no offense by showing undue partiality to this or that group. The princess' father, Alexander Campbell, made: large fortune in Hawaii long before the American occupation. Her share of his fortune is said to be a million dollars. Prince David, her late husbard, was a nephew of the late King Kalakaua, the las of the Kamehamehas. Her mother a cultured, beautiful native, is now the wife of Samuel Parker, a promirent figure in the islands for many years.

Married Men On the Barbary Coast

The Examiner's story last week of the visit of Anna Pavlowa, the Russian dancer, to the Barbary

Coast, together with members of her company and several society people, and how she learned to dance the "turkey trot" and enthused over it, caused a running to cover of the society members of the slumming party. No, there were no women in the party outside of the members of the Russian dancing troupe. But several married men were on the "Coast" with Pavlawa who do not want it known at home where they were that night. They never had any fear the newspaper would publish their names, but they did dread, and still fear, that insidious, percolating, whispering gossip will eventually cause their wives to find out who was with the fascinating Russian danseuse. One of these men, who was supposed to be visiting a sick relative in San Jose that evening has a particularly jealous wife. Her jealousy, whether with or without cause, has come near breaking up the home on several occasions. For her to get a flood light on hubby's deception that day would therefore mean a domestic tragedy for him. Two single men in the party are quietly laughing at the married benedicks and sleeping soundly withal.

Recovered Nearly All the Stolen Money

The Hellmans, hankers of this city and Los Angeles and the controlling owners of the Farmers and Merchants' Bank in the latter city, are in good luck to have had Wilson B. Evans, their defaulting paying teller in the sum of $36,000, captured at Acapulco, Mexico. Had it not been for the fact that the powder schooner Kate, on which Evans fled from California, was supposed to have some connection with the Los Angeles Times dynamiting affair he would no doubt have got away into South America. The Hellmans will recover all but about $4000 of this man's stealings. This is the second official of this bank who has defaulted and fled within the past eight or nine years. The first one was Henry Fleishman who got away with $100,000 and fled to South America. This man is said to be living in Brazil now, where he is doing fairly well as a small merchant. The Hellmans are represented as having known for a year or two where Fleishman is and what he is engaged in. Why they have never sought to bring him back for punishment for his defalcation, unless it is that he and his friends and relations have made partial financial restitution to the bank, is a matter known only to themselves.

Colonel Moody's Glad Hand

Colonel Samuel Moody of Pittsburg, the new passenger traffic manager of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg, who was in the city a few days ago on his first visit to the Coast, is as well known in Eastern political circles as he is in the railroad world, and is the author of the following expression, which won him much notoriety a year ago in the East: "I would rather be an official of the Pennsylvania System than President of the United States."

Colonel Moody at one time declined to be the Republican nominee for Governor of Pennsylvania. He was an intimate and life-long chum of the late Senator Matthew Quay. He is intimate with Senators Hale, Clark and Foraker and was much in the company of men like Speaker Reed and Senators Allison, Hoar and Platt. The colonel has a reputation as a story-teller and after-dinner speaker. Many of his anecdotes are original and he has apparently an unfailing supply of them, appropriate to every occasion. Like E. O. Mc-Cormick of the Southern Pacific, Moody makes friends everywhere, of low and high degree, and retains them. He is on familiar terms with trackmen and railroad presidents, and equally at home either with one or the other. He has the happy faculty of being able to decline a request if need be, without giving offense, while on the other hand when he decides to grant an application he does it in so gracious a manner withal as to double the obligation.

Why Gen. Bliss Is Angry

General Tasker H. Bliss, U. S. A, in command of the Department of California, and the regular officers under him are very much incensed over an article a few days ago in the Los Angeles Times to the effect that at the recent joint maneuvers at Camp Atascadero of the regulars and militia "the West Pointers showed scant courtesy to the militia officers." Many of the latter have personally called on General Bliss and assured him that the story is most unfair and without truth. It is pertinent to remark in this connection that the regular and militia officers had several formal dinners together while in camp. The formation at the joint maneuvers was regimental and called for only one brigadier-general to command. The latter had to be of the regular army. This was why Bliss was in command and why there was no command for Brigadier-General *Wankowski of the California militia. Wankowski and Assistant Adjutant-General Bradbury, N. G. C., both of whom hail from Los Angeles, appear to have been the only militia officers in camp who exhibited a grouch. General Wankowski was in camp most of the time, and, while having nothing to do, thought it fitting to have about him a lot of orderlies from the militia cavalry. Major Dunning, U. S. A., thought these orderlies should get the full benefit of the maneuver school of instruction and ordered them back with their troops. Bradbury took exception to this order of Dunning. Finally Wankowski was allowed one orderly. This appears to have been the only friction there was at the camp.

As to the Seventh-Street Franchise.

The matter of the Seventh street franchise is not a controversy between THE TRIBUNE and the Enquirer. The facts of the situation should not be in controversy at all. As rapid and direct transit between the eastern section of the city and San Francisco through the southern district of Oakland is a vital public necessity, every fact and condition bearing upon the application of the Southern Pacific for a franchise to run electric cars, in connection with the company's ferry service via the Oakland mole, should be fully and frankly presented and examined with candid deliberation, with the idea of serving the best interests of the city, particularly the interests of those who are most directly concerned, in a spirit of justice. Unless the facts of the situation are fully ascertained and frankly recognized judgment will be at fault in drawing a conclusion.

Unfortunately, the Enquirer's remarks on the subject are lacking in candor and honest intent. It is inspired by a desire to hit the Southern Pacific, and is indifferent as to who else is injured if It can only inflict some damage on the corporation. Hence it equivocates, tergiversates, calls names and resorts to petty subterfuges to prevent the facts being made plain. Serious discussion with an adversary who grimaces, calls names, falsifies directly and indirectly, and flies from one thing to another, the point under consideration is quite impossible. Moreover, it is a waste of time. Frivolity, insincerity and inveracity inspired by malice are not open to reason or amenable to the decencies of debate. We quote two extracts from the Enquirer's editorial columns to illustrate the methods of that sheet and its inveterate inveracity. On Wednesday, November 30, the Enquirer made this statement:

"According to W. R. Scott, Assistant General Manager of the Southern Pacific, that corporation earns something over $166,000 per annum on Seventh street."

We pointed out that this represented the earnings for the ferry service and the line east of Fallon street, not merely the short section on Seventh street on which the city can grant a franchise, whereupon the Enquirer eats its own words. On Friday, December 1, it says:

"Mr. Scott of the Southern Pacific ought to call his corporation's organ down. For it says that 'Mr. Scott said that the gross earnings of the Seventh street line last year were a little above $166,-000. Mr. Scott said nothing of the kind. What he did say in his communication to the City Council was that the earnings of the Seventh street system were something over $83,000 for the first six months of this year, 1910."

Mr. Scott's statement in regard to the earnings of the Seventh street line indicated that he spoke of gross instead of net earnings. The Enquirer insists that he meant net carnings, although he did not so specify. We decline to dispute about the matter. Mr. Scott can state whether he meant gross or net earnings. He knows and it in no way clears the situation to bandy words with the Enquirer over However, Mr. Scott spoke of the earnings of the entire Seventh street line, including the ferry service, the haul over the mole and the run east from Fallon street.

It is true that the Southern Pacific has applied for a franchise on Seventh street from Fallon street on the east to Bay street on the west, but it is also true that the Southern Pacific originally owned all of Seventh street from the mole to Market street and gave the land on each side of the tracks to the city for a street. It is barely possible that this dedication extinguished the corporation's title to the right of way, but we doubt it-we have not examined the records or consulted attorneys familiar with the law and the the issue now was not whether the Lords should approve the bud-approximately, the distance from the facts. In any event there would be a long struggle in the courts get, but whether the Lords should be permitted to longer exist. A before the Southern Pacific could be ousted from the section of hereditary legislative body was an anachronism and a contra liction as to his descents, he would have abund-Seventh street west of Market.

But what would be the consequence if the Southern Pacific should refuse to buy the Seventh street franchise at the price and on the conditions proposed? What would the franchise be worth to anybody else? Who else could possibly furnish the rapid transit service the Southern Pacific is prepared to furnish? A right of way of the land tax clause. On that issue they submitted their case to on Seventh street is more valuable to the Southern Pacific than to the electorate. anybody else, but for precisely that reason the Southern Pacific cannot be coerced in the matter. The service of the Southern Pacific on Seventh street is more valuable to the southern section of the city than any other service could be, because Seventh street has no outlet east or west except over the Southern Pacific's right of way.

That is the situation and there is no escape from it. The property owners on Seventh street and the immediate region sides of that thoroughfare want the Southern Pacific to get the franwant an electric service installed as soon as possible. They are in no mood to be sacrificed to George C. Pardee's animosity to the railroad. They are dependent on rapid transit facilities and they want the steam cars to be banished from the street at the earliest practicable moment. We have merely stated their views in the matter, and the Enquirer says that doing so is evidence that the Southern Pacific has opened "a sack." The Enquirer uttered this knowing it to be a deliberate lie; but the charge hurled at THE TRIBUNE goes directly at the Seventh street property owners. By direct implication the Enquirer accuses them of being boodled by the corporation.

In the Sixty-third Congress the Pacific States will be more strongly represented than at present. California will gain three or four members, Oregon one and Washington one and perhaps two. Idaho may get an additional Congressman and Arizona will furnish another, besides two Senators. These will all be net gains, a clear increase of political power. Hereafter Pacific Coast interests will be too strongly backed in Congress to be safely ignored.

The comments of the judge of a criminal court have moved the Texas newspapers to make a protest against "the hip-pocket move ment" as a defense in murder cases. Judge Kittrell of Houston says that in nine cases out of ten the "hip-pocket movement" defense is a manufactured pretense to excuse murder. When one Texan shoots down another, he immediately sets up the plea that the slain man made a movement of his hand toward his hip pocket, such a movement being accepted as indicative of an intent to draw a pistol and open fire. It frequent'y happens that no weapon is him a hearing, treated his theories more found on the dead man, but the "hip-pocket movement" goes nevertheless. Judge Kittrell says the plea of defense should not be permitted to rest upon the "hip-pocket movement." It is usually dreams surpassed when the aviators the defendant and his friends who see this movement. The extraordinary thing about this desense is the fact that unarmed men so in the air with the case and swiftness to the ingenuity and during of often make this hostile movement in the presence of an enemy. # The Political Revolution in England.

England is undergoing a political revolution. How far it will go depends upon the reads of the Parliamentary elections now being held, but in any event the political structure will be racically changed.

As Lord Rosebery pointed out, the Liberals propose to apolish one of the three estates of the realm. It is their aim to destroy the baronage as a part of the legislative machinery and place all the powers of the government in the hands of the Commons. B. nonexercise the veto power has been lost to the throne and the L-berals propose to abolish the House of Lords. The Lords have offered to without ceasing, in order to set down surrender their claim to the right to veto measures and to submit all differences between the two houses to a referendum, but the Liberals refuse to accept the submission and say the Lords mist go. The Lords may not go—not just yet—but if they remain it vill be 24 hours, or 87,600 ascerts a year, representing nearly 16,000 miles, or much more than half the circuit of the globe.

"The peers have committed suicide," declared Lloyd George when the upper chamber ventured to veto the budget. He sa d that one of these elevators will have covered in a democracy in this age, he declared, and that the time lad arrived to clear it out and send it to the lumber heap.

When the last Parliamentary elections were held in England, the Lords stood upon their right to veto a financial measure enacted by the House of Commons. They vetoed the budget mainly tecause

The Lords were defeated at the polls. Had they not tried to defeat the budget no attack would have been made at this time on their hereditary privilege. But when the new Parliament mat they found their very existence in peril. So threatening was the situation that Lord Lansdowne, the Tory leader in the House of Lords, and to turn the peers into an elective body. But Mr. Asquith avoid slums it will be among the elect and Lloyd George refused to accept the term. proffered to surrender the right to veto all bills relating to money and Lloyd George refused to accept the terms. They declared that chise; they want the Southern Pacific service continued, and they the Lords would have to resign all right to interfere with legislation enacted by the Commons and become merely an adviso y elective chamber. Since a new election Mr. Balfour, former premier, has tried to mend the situation by suggesting the referendim as a method of settling disagreements between the Lords and the Commons. He is trying to save the last remnant of feudal privilege by suggesting an expedient so radical that neither side would have listened to it half a dozen years ago.

The Lords may be saved for the present, but their power will be gone. They will never dare again to defy the Commons. That body established its supremacy over the crown and now it has put its foot on the peerage. In any event the Lords have lost the chief essentials of power-the right to veto money bills and the herecitary privilege.

The battle now going on is merely one of the incident; of the revolution. It may fluctuate one way or the other, but the revolu- Brazil no sooner reach Rio Janeiro than tion has progressed so far that the Lords have been stripped of all they prove a source of pitiful weakness. real authority. They will retain their titles and some of the ancient seize the battleships after killing some symbols of their power and their order, but as a political force they have become mere figures in a system which has preserved the forms and pageantry of an obsolete order that has been robbed of everything but its uniform and its respectability.

NOT DEFINITE.

Now, Balfour's pledge was not definite. He merely said he had no objection to such a course. But immediately the word was seized by his followers, who manifested the greatest delight in taking tariff reform from the party platform, which, until Balfour's speech, they had regarded as the most popular plank. The simple fact is that the Tories have discovered they cannot carry tariff reform, that the itriush public won't have it, and that their only chance of wirning the celections is to postpone it to the Greek talendar.

ESPITE the inclemency of the weather several thousand racing enthusiasts gathered at the Oakland race track yesterday afternoon to witness the running of the time-honored Crocker Selling Stakes, which resulted in an exercise gallop for Roy Junior. Owing to the track conditions two of the most for midable contenders. Setback and Sea Cliff, declined the issue. Whether either one of them, even ut der favorable conditions, could have taken the winner into camp remains a conjecture. Throwing out Roy Junior's last race, which was not very brilliant, his other starts this season have be n extremely creditable, and his splendid performance yesterday stamps him a rare mudder and refects great credit on the training ability of Frank Kelly, the former jockey, known to race-goers as "H ndriding" Kelly.

Noon was made favorite in the race, but did not seem ablo to get going at the start, and never gained very much ground, finishing a disgraceful fourth. Roy Junior was much the best, as he was shut off early in the runring, but with advantage of a good ride was hustled right to the front, and assuming the lead at the half, romped away from his field with ridicatious ease and won pulled up by eighth lengths. # SPORTS: EDITED BY EDDIE SMITH

NELSON WILL MAKE ANOTHER TRY IN RING

BATTLER PLANS TO TRY CONDITION WITH SECOND-RATE PUGS

Fans of Fistiana Regret the Passing of Dane and Give Him Great Reception at Dreamland

By EDDIE SMITH.

AST night Baitlir: Nelson left for the east via Los Angeles and New Vexico. With his going the fans feel that he is ending his pugilistic career on the coast and on every side reg et at the passing of the famous little fellow is mannfest. The one man who feels that this is not his last try for pugilistic honors on the coast is the Dane hin self.— he is of the opinion that a rest for a few weeks at his ranch in New Mexico and an active campaign among he second and third raters of his class will fit him for a final try at the lightweight crown. It is our op nion that this is a hopeless task. We feel that the once unconquerable Bat has seen his day in the ring and that no manner or amount of preparation will ever fit him for another crack at the big ones of his class.

NELSON'S UNOSTENTATIOUS CHARFIY.

NELSON'S UNOSTENTATIOUS CHARFIY.

First and foremost among these is the fact that when the news of the San Francisco disaster reached Nelson he almost immediately wrote a check for $1000 for the aid of the sufferers in the city that had given him his first big boost up the ladder of fame. There wasn't any ostentation to the deed and he did not wait for the opportune time in which he might receive the greatest amount of advertisement out of the fact before he sentit. It was just the goodness of his heart and he has very carefully avoided making mention of the fact.

This was true charity and the writer could quote many other instances of a like character if the necessity should arise. Nelson was never a reckless spender and he would no more buy a friend a bottle of haughing water at five a bottle than fig. J. in let the same man that he might refuse to buy foolish water for he in h.rd circumstances and one of the first to his aid would be the same Baitling Nelson.

Now the little fellow 's going to start in all over again. He is going to meet the second raters of his class and if he is successful in his new start and can prove to the fans that he is able to come back he will ask another chance at Wolgast and Moran. It is not our opinion that he can ever regain his lost prowess and we are somy to hear that the unconquerable mind of the Dane leads him to taking part in more contests.

BATTLER WAS CREDIT TO GAME.

BATTLER WAS CREDIT TO GAME.

Nelson has been too great a fighter and too much of a credit to the boxing game to be battered up by men who in his day would be playthings for him. Nelson says, I owever, that if he finds that he is not able & beat the under dogs of I is class that he will retire and in this announcement he is showing the best judgment he has for years. Bat will not have to lay on the door mat with a shot gun to keep the wolf away from the door and we hope he will adhere to his present plars. Nelson is nearly 29 years of age and has been in the boxing game almost 15 years. He started boxing as a principal in matches at the age of 14 years and has been active ever since. His has not been the easy going like the cleverer boxers and the wender of it all is that he lasted as long as he did. Kid Lavigne Sailor Tem Sharkoy and Kid Broad were the other toughnuts of the boxing game. The fact that none of them lasted more than 10 years is proof positive that Nelson is really the toughest nut the game has ever known.

There is a time when any piece of machinery is overworked and game has ever known.

There is a time when any piece of machinery is overworked and must stop, however, and this is the case with Nelson. He was a grand spectmen of fighting tenacity and builded courage, but the wheels have been worked too long and he should now stop and leave the game to the younger men of the spect. With Nelson, noes the very best wishes of the fans who have seen him perform in the ring and it will be many a day before there will be another to take his place in the affections of the fans of fistiana.

POWELL WRITES FROM NEW YORK.

Received a letter from Lew Powell last evening in which he informs us that he caught on fine at New York with his clean cut win from Young Otto Lew goes on to say that the New York fans did not think so much of him after his battle with Johnnie Marto, but explains this by saying that the newspapermen of the east treated him so nicely in the matter of boost that he was everly anyous to nake good and the crowd had also been worked up to believe that he was a tertar such as they had never seen before. Powell says that he is of the pinion that his showing with Otto has once again put him in a position to rake good. On December 6 he is to meet Young Otto again in a six round contest; Tommy Murphy on the 16th and one week later will probably meet Jack Goodwin. Things are cortainly looking up for Lew Powell in the little village on the Hudson. But the Native Son is kicking on the cild weather and winds up his letter by saying "Oh you California climate."

MORAN AFTER AD WOLGAST.

Owen Moran has bunded at Chicago and the first thing done was the paying of respects to one Ad Wolgast. Both Moran and his manager, Charlie Harvey, have had their little say about the German buildog and in no very mild terms they have listed that they intend to force the issue with the Cadillac man as soon as the theatrical jour of the Briton is finished.

Among other things Harvey says that he does not care whether or not Wolgast gets his demanded $12,000 for his end fust so long as Moran has something left for himse? "If Wolgast can find the club that will guarantee him any such an amount then he is lucky and we have no kick corning but will wait until he receives some din the worst of it. If Wo gast is afraid of Moran and wants a good piece of money for losing then we will give it to him, but we must also get a share" That is the way Harvey sizes up the situation. To the fans it would seem that Moran and Wolgast will wrangle for a few months and finally get together on something like equal terms. Let them wrangle for a time—

TREEGGAINS MAY TRAIN HOGAN.

GREGGAINS MAY TRAIN ROGAN.

The first good move that has been made by Walter Frayne, manager for "One Round" Hogan, is the announcement that he will seek the services of a graduate trainer to prepar his man for the Johnnie Frayne battle of this month. Better than that Frayne is dickering with Alex Greggains to act as the trainer and instructor for the boy. The superstitious fellow act as the trainer and instructor for the boy. The superstitious fellow fairly have a good force about boxing in one hour than the groat majority of trainers could in more about boxing in one hour than the groat majority of trainers could in the city and if he goes with Hogan there is no one who will know the San Francisco club he turned out more good boxers than any other than Johnnie Frayne that the four round champion is being well better than Johnnie Frayne that the four round champion is being well cared for.

NERVOUS COLLAPSE MAY BE THE ENDING OF CHAMPION JACK

Other Great Pugilists Have Suffered Same Breakdown and Have Never Been Able to Come Back

By W. W. NA UGHTON.

By W. W. NA UGHTON.

O JACK JOHNSON, conqueror of Jim Joffries and groud possessor of the championship of the world, has developed a case of nerves
Too bad, isn't it? But while we offer our sympathy to the temporarily rattled ring hero, we are wondering whether it is simply a passing jar—a little protest from overtaxed nature—or the beginning of the end, so far as Johnson, the fighter, is concerned

It will take a little time to tell The lives of other one-time celebrities in Johnson's line remind us that men of brawn and boxing ability collapse of beads when the string is broken And in such cases all the king's horses and all the king's men could not put them back where they were before their "nerves" gave out.

This thing of going to the woods for rest and recuperation—of going to the mountains—sounds very well and has a reassuring ring to some people, but as the young lady remarked when she heard a friend rhapsodizing over a gin guzzler which had reformed, "the follow who does not have to reform is a safer proposition"

Johnson's breakdown, whether not have to retorm is a section of sitton."

Johnson's breakdown, whether passing, partial or complete, is a choice morsel for the gossips just now. It causes a number of questions to arise and the first of these is, "What is the matter with Johnson, anyhow?" Is it, as he says, too much work unmixed with relaxation since his triumph at Reno, or has the "pace that kills" claimed another victim?

w. W. NAUGHTON.

The pages of puglistic history make evident that the negro champions cannot assimilate the rewards of victory with as little damage to their systems as do the white kings of victory with as little damage to their systems as do the white kings of edges, who probably succumbed to the wear and tear of many training speils rather than to the effects of riotous living.

But whatever the cause, many dusky-skinned fighters, whose records are still in print, have passed away while the men they fought with are still on deck and likely to reach a green old age.

JACK LIKES BUBBLE WATER.

JACK LIKES BUBBLE WATER.

There is a report that fondness for champagne is one of the controlling causes of Johnson's attack of "nerves." I do not know if that is so, but I do know that Jack considered an occasional sip of the vintage an aid to training. At least such was his claim when explaining the presence of a pinting. At least such was his claim when explaining the presence of a pinting. At least such was his claim when explaining the presence of a pinting. At least such was his claim when explaining the presence of a pinting. At least such was preparing for Jeff. And as other ocean beach quarters while he was preparing for Jeff. And as other bottles were noticed there on other nights, Jack could claim to be consistent, if not sincere.

Now it seems reasonable to suppose that a fellow who considers the blood of the grape beneficial as a training beverage would also pin his faith to it when battling with the discomforts of one night stands, to say nothing to it when battling with the discomforts of one night stands, to say nothing of his difficulty in avoiding the seductive stuff when being dined and supped and paraded as the hope of the black race.

Here is another question if johnson becomes dubious about the contituely and in addition to enjoying the distinction of being the first negrottrely and in addition to enjoying the distinction of being the first negrottrely and in addition to enjoying the distinction of being the first negrottrely and in addition to enjoying the distinction of being the first champion of any complexion who went out of the game undefeated?

JOHNSON A CAREFUL MATCHMAKER.

JOHNSON A CAREFUL MATCHMAKER.

JOHNSON A CAREFUL MATCHMAKER.

There is something in Johnson's attitude toward Sam Langford which suggests that Jack is not what might be called a reckless matchmaker, and a suspicion exists that if he feels he has endured a physical setback and a suspicion exists that if he feels he has endured a physical setback and a suspicion exists that if he feels he has endured a physical setback and a suspicion exists that if he feels he has endured a physical setback he will stay out of the ring and let the championship go by default. If he will stay out of the ring and let the championship go by default. If he will stay out of the ring and let the championship go by default. If champion who isn't imbued with the bellef that he has "one more right" champion who isn't imbued with the bellef that he has "one more right" champion who isn't imbued with the bellef that he has "one more right" champion get of the has "one of them was licked until after he had been slowed down by long service and impaired nerve force, and Johnson, if the forging of the chain of destruction is to go on, is expected to test his ability to "come back" along with the rest of them.

If Johnson decides to retire, who will he designate as his successor?

He can't designate anybody, says Mr. Stickler for prize ring ethics, but things have been done. Jim Corbett willed the title to Peter Maher such things have been done. Jim Corbett willed the title to Peter Maher and old Bob Fitzsimmons, when the opportunity presented itself, knocked and old Bob Fitzsimmons, when the opportunity presented itself, knocked and old Bob Fitzsimmons, when the opportunity presented itself, knocked and old Bob Fitzsimmons, of course, for when Fitzsimmons and Corbett was attacking the championship and which defending it along the championship and which defending it was attacking the championship and which defending way Firzimmons treated Maher

It may be, for that matter, that Johnson would prove selfish enough to wish to be remembered as the only negro that held the heavyweight churapionship and that he would resign in favor of some paleface brother. Whe can tell?

The Appetite of An Automobile

The construction above outlined enables the White to make a lighter cannot at the same time a much stronger can than is done by any other American maker so that the appetite of the can for time and for gasoline is the most economical of any car built of its capacit.

THE PRICE of the White gas car is only enough more than the price of the many nakes who are trying to so who can turn out the cheapest automobile to pay for the increas a cost of the superior ma smal and workmanishing. The percentage of profit to the manufacturer is the smallest of any car made. What man wild not findly pay this additional to get the quality. We have adopted these methods between the car and the same can afford to do otherwise.

No purchaser can afford to do otherwise.

We have adopted these methods because no believe the American public are being educated to appreciate them, and will when such a cut as tals cin be had at a moderate price, refuse to take cherp substitutes.

WE ARL CONVINCED that when a beautiful roomy seven-passenger 40 horsep wer car of this high graie construction can be had it a weight of onto 3100 pounds and at a price of $3.200 he purchasers will refuse to pa) $4.000 $5.000 and $6.000 for heavy cumbersome ire enting cars with less speed hill climbing ability, easy riding qualities or durability.

THE PURCHASER OF A WHITE GAS CAR today will have an up todate car five years from today Expert foreign manufacturers consider every other American car at the present time already out of date in design No buyer can afford to invest in an automobile without investigating this modern machine.

The coming game between the Century football team of Oakland and Winged V. of Vailejo (state champions), which is to be gived at State League grounds, Fifty-seventh and Grove streets, Sunday next, is creating a great deal of interest among football fans.

The two teams have given the public an excellent atticle of ball in past seasons and next Sunday's game promises to surpass all brevious ones. The Century team is conceded to have the strongest eleven it has put in the field during its long career, and under the guidance of Captain George Inocel expects to bring the championship to Oakland.

Although Winter Weather Conditions Have Temperarily Depressed Activity, Over $350,000 Worth of Work

The weather uncertainties of the winter season have begun to temporally depress new building construction, as has been the unvarying effect in all previous years and the last week in No embor, and the total for the month in 'act, is in consequence, below the average. But it will be of shorter duration this winter than ordinary, for next month work will be started in earnest on the new inition dollar city hall and the half-million dollar Capwell business block, the contract for which has been awa ded to Percy J. Walker. These structures will be quickly followed by a string of other business blocks of magnitude and large cost, for the year 1911 promises to be the one of the greatest huilding activity. Prof. Merriam Issues Paper Concerning New Geological Period.

BERKELEY Dec 3—In the summer of 1909 an exped tion to Northern Neward was organized and financed by Miss Arnie M. Mexande of Oakland for the pupese of investigating the extensive fosel bearing formations known to occur in that region. As a result of the work of the expedition an important collection was obtained for the University of California which represents the life of a geological period concerning which very little had previously been known. A paper by Professor I C. Mortam, published by the university gives the results of a preliminary study of the geology of the formations in the region in which the fossil bearing formations occur.

A succession of four generations is deserihed of which two are mainly composed of extensive land eds.

The paper is illustrated with maps, cross sections and photographs of local it es showing typical exposures of the for nations. The results of this investigardion are intended as a basis for the later work on the fossil collections and have a direct hearing a the large problems concerning orbita and true succession of the formations of the Great Basin region. Then will also have an economic value in any work concerning the nock formations of this region.

HOUSES FOR SALE

5-room bungalow, located in Steinway Terrace, a restricted tract, with Liese ave. and California Railroad 4 blocks on either side and 40 minutes' walk from Melrose station. This fine bungalow is exceptionally well finished, with large closets, sunny rooms and all modern conveniences. Lot 40x10, with west front-age. All street work done, sewer, sidewalk, water, gas, electricity and telephone service. This is a fast growing section and property values are increasing rapidly; five new homes have been finished and owners moved in since the last of November, and many more homes are in course of construction. All homes are neat and attractive and occupied by a fine class of people. This property is selling at a sacrifice, owner compelled to change residence on account of change of business; $500 will handle this. See owner Sunday at property, 2004 Rosedale ave. A woman sits where she is put and lets things alone She makes up her mind what sne will do and does it. She doesn't deviate from what she has once decided except in case of emergency Perhaps this is partly due to the fact that she has put her trust in the man she is going up with and knows that his conrancs are sensible. One man never can quite believe another knows nore than he

Yes, this is quite a pretty snowstorm, but it lacks ginger. Why, this is a mild affair indeed and lacks class when I recall some of the wintry blasts I encountered out west in the early days. A snowstorm today lacks all those spectacular features that endeared the old time storms to my sturdy heart. Give me a snowstorm with lots of fight and backbone to it, not one of these mild affairs through which a baby might canter with glee. Yes, siree, there's a vast difference in storms. They used to be twice as severe as they now are, but I suppose the snowstorms, like the world, are growing better and saner. But this one out west was a whopper!

OLD OPIE DILLDCCK'S STORIES

Swayback Bill was about the brainiest equine that ever wore shoes, and when I led him out of the corral that day I held a long conversation with him in which I pointed out to him the necessity for reaching our point of destination on schedule time. "It's going to be a long, hard journey," I concluded, "and if I know anything about weather we're going to have a frightful storm before we reach the end of our amble." Swayback gave a whinny which convined me he understood thoroughly what was expected of him.

But I realized ere long that this storm was destined to be much worse than even I had at first expected. The snowflakes were getting momentarily larger, and in a few minutes the mountains, with the exception of the extreme high peaks, were covered with a white blanket. Swayback snorted in disgust but never relaxed his efforts. He found it necessary, in order to maintain his speed, to jump from one peak to another, but he was a surefooted beast and did this feat with admirable agility.

Louid tell from Swayback Bill's heavy breathing that the difficulties under which he labored were beginning to tell on him. And as he leared from flake to flake I could tell that each bound was harder to accomplish than the preceding one. Humanely, therefore, I made Swayback's progress easier by sliding off, grasping him by the tail, and springing in unison with him. Thus he was enabled to recover some of the ground he already had lost. The storm, however, was not abating in fury.

As we shot down I told Swaytack to curl up on my back; that I had a plan to rest him, and we'd make remarkable time for some miles. Swayback did as I directed and when we struck the ice-coated side of the mountain I planted my heels tightly against it and together Swayback and I shot that icy toboggan, Bill making himself comfy and enjoying what little scenery there was. That slide took us over forty-nine miles of our journey, and incidentally gave Swayback a fine opportunity of gaining a much needed rest.

With a display of marvelous strength and agility I succeeded in righting Swayback so that he would land on his feet. He thanked me in his horse language. Quickly I squirmed around his body until I was almost in the saddle. He fell upon a bank of snow drifted fifteen feet deep, and I floundered for a minute. I suspended myself in air long tenough to give him a chance to recover himself, and then as he regained his footing and dashed off with renewed energy, I gave an athletic spring and settled again in the saddle.

Vauiting into the saddle, I chirruped to Swayback and we started upon our mission. We hadn't gone far, however, when my prediction of a storm came true. At first it wasn't a severe storm as storms go in the mountains, but the snow, in fine flakes, was coming down with ever increasing density. On starting Swayback had set a fast clip and this he kept u) despite the sting of the snow on his face. "We've just got to get there, old boy," I told him, and at the sound of my voice he increased his speed.

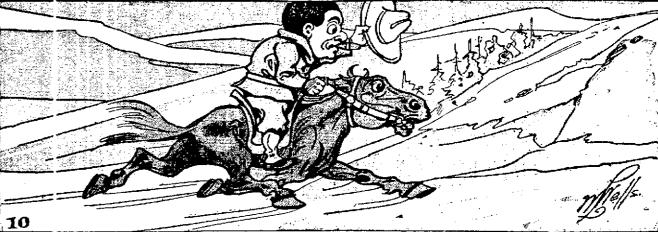

But there came a time, half an hour later, when even the highest peaks of the mountains were buried in the snow. But the flakes were now of such proportions that, with slightly diminished speed, Swayback was enabled to use them as stepping stones. How he held to a direct course in that blinding storm I never have been able to fathom, but subsequent events showed that he had not swerved over two feet at any point in his progress. It was most remarkable, for even your Uncle Opie lost all sense of direction.

a proble n with which I was at that time mentally unable to cope. But nature herself finally came to our rescue. The snow ce used falling and a heavy rain and sleet storm succeeded it. The ground now was a sheet of ice and suddenly Swayba k's feet went out from under him and we shot over the brow of a precipice. Four thousand feet below a steep mountain side loomed. I crawled under Bill as we descended.

But an unlooked for calamity befell us, an incident which almost worked our undoing. As we neared the bottom of the incline we came upon a much more abrupt precipice than the first one, and before I had time to dig my heels in the ice and check our onrush, we dashed over an overhanging rock and shot out into space. Swayback and I somersa ilted thousands of times in the next few moments, but gradually I worked my way around him as we spun towards the earth. I felt sure we both would be dashed to death.

With long strides Swayback went upon his way. I looked at my watch and found we were even ahead of time and there are told Bill he could take it easy the rest of the way. Within an hour or so the outlying shacks of the town for which we had started loomed up on the horizon. Soon Swayback snorted with glee and pranced into town, as proud and cavorting a steed as ever you set eyes on. We disposed of our work there and then retraced our steps without further misadven ure. But, say, that was a mighty bad storm.
